

EVOLUTION MUST BE REALLY SMART.

Evolution must be really, really smart. It not only designed a habitable planet earth, out of the billions and billions of solar systems, it took six atomic elements and made them organized enough to walk and talk.

Evolution not only provided food for all living beings, but it made the food taste and smell good.

Evolution gave animals a sex instinct and made it pleasurable, so as to populate the planet.

Evolution also made things beautiful and for human beings at least, gave us an appreciation of that beauty.

It also gave us love.

Evolution must be very, very smart indeed. Almost like there is a MIND behind it.
